REPORT.

Of the Commissioners appointed in pursuance of an act for the amicable settlement of limits with the State of Georgia, and authorizing the establishment of a Government in the Mississippi Territory.

THE commissioners appointed in pursuance of the act entitled, "An act for an amicable settlement of limits with the State of Georgia, and authorizing the establishment of a government in the Mississippi territory," in obedience to the provisions of the act supplemental to the last mentioned act—respectfully submit the following report on the claims made by settlers and other persons, to lands within the territory situate west of the river Chatahouchee, and south of the cession made to the United States, by South Carolina.

REPORT.

THE territory of the United States, south of the state of Tennessee, extends in breadth 275 miles from the 31st to the 35th degree of north latitude.—From east to west, its greatest length from the river Chatahouchee to the Mississippi, measures three hundred and eighty miles along the north boundary of west Florida; the length of its northern boundary, along the state of Tennessee is not precisely ascertained, but it is believed that the average length of the whole may, without material error, be estimated at 300 miles, and the contents of the territory, at 52 millions of acres.

The only portions of that vast extent, to which the Indian title has been extinguished, are a tract or about one million and a half of acres, extending along the Mississippi from the mouth of the river Yazoo, southwardly to the Spanish line; and another tract at least equal in extent, and extending between the rivers Pascagoula and Mobile, or Tombigbee, more than fifty miles north of that line.

The settlements within those two tracts, which are separated from each other, by a wilderness of 120 miles in breadth, from the whole population of the Mississippi territory.

The claims to lands within these boundaries, are derived either from the British government of West Florida, from the Spanish government, occupancy and settlement, or from the state of Georgia.

The British governors of West Florida after the boundaries of that province had been extended as far north as the parallel of lat. which crosses the Mississippi, at the mouth of the river Yazoo granted lands south of that parallel, until the year 1781, when the province was conquered by Spain.

A great portion of the lands granted in that manner has since been regranted by the Spanish government: several tracts have continued the occupancy of the original grantees, or of their representatives; and several remain unoccupied, or are inhabited by persons who have no other claim but that of possession.

The grants of the Spanish government appear to have been confined to persons actually residing on the lands; but they were made indiscriminately on every unoccupied tract, whether the same had been previously granted by the British government or not: nor did they discriminate making concessions, even after Spain had by the treaty of October, 1795, recognized the rights of the United States to the whole territory north of the 31st degree of north latitude.

Until the evacuation, which was delayed for near two years, had taken place, grants were issued, sometimes bearing their real dates, and sometimes, as is alleged, antedated.

On the 7th February, 1785, the state of Georgia passed an act for the purpose of laying out the tract of country, extending along the Mississippi from the 31st degree of north latitude to the mouth of the river Yazoo, to which the Indian title had been extinguished, into a county by the name of Bourbon, and declared that whenever a land office should be opened, there should be a right to preference reserved to the possessors of lands within that district provided they actually lived on and cultivated the said lands. That act was repealed on the 1st day of February, 1788.

By the articles of agreement and cession between the United States and Georgia, it is provided, that the persons who on the 27th October, 1795, (being the date of the treaty with Spain) were actual settlers within that territory, shall be confirmed in all the grants legally and fully executed, prior to that day, by the former British government of West Florida, or by the government of Spain, and in all the claims which may be derived from any actual survey or settlement made under the act of Georgia, commonly called the Bourbon act.

The persons in who favor that clause was inserted, were at the request of the commissioners, invited by the governor of the Mississippi territory, to exhibit their claims. This has been partially done in that part of the territory which lies contiguous to the Mississippi; claims, amounting to about 240,000 acres, and said to be derived from British and Spanish patents, have been transmitted. A few applications have also been filed for lands claimed under the Bourbon act; most of which, however, are for tracts improved after the act had been repealed. Including even these, the governor is of opinion, that there cannot be in the whole more than 350,000 acres, on the Mississippi, covered by claims confirmed by the articles of agreement. From that part of the territory which lies on the Mobile, no returns have been received.

The claims derived from the British and Spanish governments, or from occupancy, and not recognized by the agreement with Georgia, are:

1st. British grants held by persons who were not resident in the territory, on the 27th October, 1795, and have not improved their lands. The West Florida patents were, with but few exceptions, accompanied with a clause of forfeiture, unless the land should be improved within ten years; and the Spanish government seems to have considered all the unimproved lands as forfeited. It is, however, alleged on the part of the grantees, that although a condition of forfeiture was commonly annexed to the grants in the British provinces, under the royal governments, with a penalty of forfeiture in case of default. This never has been enforced, either by the British government, or after the revolution by the states, and that the Indians at first, and the Spanish conquest afterwards, rendered in this case, a fulfilment of the condition impossible.

Where the lands has been regranted by Spain, the parties must be left to a judicial decision; but where it remains unclaimed by any other person, the commissioners are of opinion, that it would be improper for the United States to grant it again, until the amount and nature of the grants shall have been fully ascertained.

2d. British and Spanish incomplete grants.

As lands were granted under both governments, upon the petition of the party, and as the first evidence of the title was a warrant or order of survey, directed to the surveyor of the district, it has happened in many instances, that the Spanish conquest in 1781, and the treaty of Spain in 1795, found persons who had only a survey executed, or perhaps an order of survey, and who could not, on account of the change of government, complete their titles.

This circumstance is stated both in the petition of the settlers on Mobile, which has been referred by the house of representatives to the commissioners, and in the letter of the governor of the Mississippi territory, heretofore annexed, (4) as more particularly involving claimants under Spanish titles; it having been customary, until the American settlers of Natchez requested patents, to consider a Spanish order of survey, when executed and returned, as a sufficient title; whilst on the other hand, few settlers are obliged to claim under incomplete British titles, as they generally applied, in lieu of them, for Spanish grants, and now claim under these.

3d. Settlements without any evidence of title.

It is stated by the governor of the territory, that 130 heads of families had, prior to October, 1795, formed settlements without any other title, but what might be derived from the Bourbon act; and that 700 more have settled in the country, since that time, who, either have no title whatever, or rest their claims on Spanish orders of survey, and grants issued after the date of the treaty. It is apprehended, that very few of the claimants of the first description, will be found to come strictly within the terms of the Bourbon act. Some are said to be by those of the last description, who migrated to that country before the Spanish posts had been evacuated, on their ignorance at first of the treaty, and on the subsequent acquiescence of the American government, in the continued possession by the Spanish government.

To these three several classes of claims, may be added, that of persons, principally from Connecticut, styling themselves a company of military adventurers who, under a mistaken expectation of obtaining a large grant from the British crown, sent agents, in 1773, to West Florida, for the purpose of exploring the country. The governor of that province promised to grant lands to such as should become settlers, on as advantageous terms as he was authorized to do, and to reserve till next spring, for that purpose, nineteen townships which had been selected and surveyed by the agents. A number of emigrants from Connecticut, accordingly removed to the Mississippi, in 1774; the war prevented the progress of the settlements; and 140 of the settlers left the country, in 1781, when the Spanish conquest took place, and traversing the Choctaw and Creek country, reached the inhabited parts of Georgia. The claim which is now set up, in the name of the company, for the nineteen townships, has no foundation: such of the settlers as had obtained grants, such or have continued on the lands, will be embraced by the provisions made for other claimants of a similar description, remain for Congress to any special provision those who abandoned the land above stated.

It would require more than has been obtained by the commissioners, to enable them perfectly satisfactory to the subject of those various claims. The following with diffidence submitted of Congress.

1st. That persons, who in the territory, on the 27th October, 1795, be confirmed to those tracts of land, situated and inhabited, for received orders of survey, that day, either from Spanish governments, in case if their titles had been confirmed, that no such income be ratified, unless the person or fact order issued, was the time of its date.

2d. That every head of single persons of 21 years above, who did not reside (rents) who were resident on the day of when the Spanish garrisoned; who claims no land under British and Spanish grants, did, on that day, occupy a tract of land, not otherwise be confirmed in the possession not exceeding 640 acres.

3d. That every head resided in the territory on day of when the articles of a Georgia, were ratified by who did on that day occupy a tract of land not otherwise shall have a right of pre-emption, not exceeding 640 acres.

4th. That the commissioners with a fixed salary, and who shall immediately procurements on the Mississippi Mobile, with power to receive and decide on all claims articles of agreement with by the preceding provision certificates stating, as the that the party is entitled to a right of pre-emption but no patents shall issue lands shall have been for interference arising from claims ascertained; nor shall any of title, but the commission issue in case where the land either a British or Spanish completely executed.

5th. That all claims derive agreement with Georgia, from Spanish grants, or from occupancy shall not be filed with the within a twelve month, shall be barred.

6th. That the commissioners make a full report to Congress British grants filed with the no improvement had been made the grantees, and which are under subsequent Spanish grants.

7th. That so much of the of acres, reserved for that purpose agreement with Georgia, as necessary to satisfy the claims by that agreement, and which by the preceding provisions those which may be derived grants, be appropriated for

The last class of claims, which are derived or pre-empted from Georgia. December, 1789, the legislature passed an act, entitled, disposing of certain vacant territory within that state; is enacted, that two tracts, comprehending, together, the of country lying between the parallel which crosses the mouth of Cole's Creek one degree and forty five minutes northern boundary of the state with a third tract lying on river, shall for two years, the passing of that act, be reserved as a pre-emption for persons, called the South Sea company; and that shall issue grants for the said companies, if they the term of two years, pay the treasury of the state, the sums; that is to say, the S

TO BE SOLD, At Public Sale, on Thursday the tenth of March,

THE subscriber's life estate, in that valuable FARM, known by the name of the Walnut-Tree Farm, situate on the south side of the river Potomac, about four miles below Alexandria. This farm contains 360 acres, of which about 100 are in wood, and the rest arable. The buildings consist of a two story brick house, handsomely finished, and a two story frame kitchen adjoining the house; a two story frame house for an overseer; a frame quarter capable of accommodating 15 or 20 persons; and a large well built barn, with grainaries, stables, and an extensive shed for cattle. The beauty and salubrity of this situation is exceeded by none on the river Potomac. The arable land is divided into convenient fields, and the soil is good for the production of small grain. There are on the premises a thriving young orchard of apple and peach trees, and about 40 acres of wheat in the ground.

The extent of this farm on the river (being more than a mile) affords an opportunity for an industrious farmer to collect large quantities of manure, and the excellent FISHERY attached to it, on which are two very good and convenient fish houses, must greatly enhance its value.

At the same time will be sold on the premises (if not disposed of before at private sale) upwards of twenty NEGROES together with the Stock of Horses, Cattle, Sheep and farming utensils on the place.

The terms of payment to be cash for all sums under one hundred dollars; from one to two hundred dollars, sixty days credit; and for all sums above two hundred dollars, one half in sixty, and one half in ninety days, the purchaser giving approved notes negotiable in the Banks of Alexandria or Columbia.

The Executors of the late Gen. Geo. Washington, offer for sale, the following

TRACTS OF LAND, viz.

A tract in Loudoun county on Difficult Run, containing 300 acres. The soil well adapted for farming and a considerable proportion of it might easily be improved into meadow. There is a valuable mill-seat on the premises. It lies on the great road from the City of Washington, Alexandria and George Town to Leesburg and Winchester, nineteen miles from Alexandria, less from the City and George Town and not more than three from the Great Falls of Potomac.

One tract containing 2,481 acres lying in the counties of Loudoun and Fauquier, called Abby's Bent. The soil is that which is said to be most favorable to Plaster of Paris, well watered by several never failing streams issuing from the mountain—part of this land is cleared and planted for lives.

One tract lying part in each of the above counties, containing 885 acres. Chatter's run passes through this tract and gives several valuable mill-seats. The soil is similar to the above tract and equally favorable to Plaster of Paris.

A tract on the South Fork of Bullikin, containing 1600 acres—One also, Head of Evans's Mill, containing 453 acres, and one on Wormley's line, containing 183 acres. These several tracts are in Jefferson (late Berkeley county)—the soil very similar in quality, and particularly adapted to the culture of Tobacco, Hemp, Wheat and Indian Corn, situated twelve miles from Harper's Ferry.

One tract containing 571 acres in Frederick county, this land is in the vicinity of the last mentioned tracts and equally valuable.

One tract in Hampshire county containing 240 acres—this tract, though small is extremely valuable. It lies on Potomac river, about 12 miles above the town of Bath (or Warm Springs) and is in the shape of a horse-shoe, the river running almost round it; two hundred acres of it are rich low grounds, with a great abundance of the largest Walnut and other trees, which with the produce of the soil, might (by means of the improved navigation of the Potomac) be brought to a shipping port with more ease and at a smaller expense, than that which is transported only 30 miles by land.

One third part of 1119 acres in Nansemond county near Suffolk, lying in the road from Suffolk to Norfolk and on Nansemond river—this land is considered extremely valuable by those who are acquainted with it.

One tract in Charles county, Maryland, containing 600 acres—it is very level and lies near the river Potomac.

One tract in Montgomery county, Maryland, containing 519 acres—This land lies about 30 miles above the City of Washington, not far from Kettocan and is good farming land.

One tract in Pennsylvania, containing 234 acres—This land affords an exceeding good stand on Braddock's road from Fort Cumberland to Pittsburg, and a large quantity of natural meadow fit for the scythe. It is distinguished by the appellation of the Great Meadows, where the first action with the French, in the year 1754, was fought.

One other tract on the Mohawk river, State of New-York, containing 1000 acres.

In North West Territory. Three tracts lying on Little Miami, containing 3051 acres.

In Kentucky. On Rough Creek, one tract containing 3000 acres; ditto adjoining 2000 acres. Indisputable titles can be given for the above lands.

Lots in the City of Washington.

Two improved lots near the Capitol square 634. The improvements are, on each an elegant three story brick house.

Four other unimproved lots on the Eastern Branch, No. 5, 12, 13 and 14, in square 667. These lots are advantageously situated on the water.

ALEXANDRIA.

A few valuable lots in Alexandria, corner of Pitt and Prince streets, three or four of which are let on ground rent at 3 dollars per foot.

WINCHESTER.

One lot in Town of half an acre adjoining Doctor Makay's, enclosed with a good post and rail fence, and another in the commons of about six acres Bath, or Warm Springs.

Two well situated lots, on one of the small building large enough to accommodate one family.

The terms of sale will be made known by application to either of the subscribers.
